

Notice of Product Obsolescence

Effective October 26, 2020

To All Lumistar Customers:

This Notice is intended to provide all Lumistar customers that the LS-11-F and LS-11-M Series of Portable Telemetry Test Transmitter/Simulator products will be obsolete after October 15, Beyond this date, Lumistar will no longer manufacture these products.

Both product series will be replaced in all cases with 100% conformance to form/fit/function by the third generation LS-11-M3 Series. The LS-11-M3 will combine all capabilities currently available in both series of first generation products, and add exciting new features and capabilities that at this time are not available, while improving the product's performance and reliability.

For more information, please see the data sheet for the LS-11-M3 3rd generation on the Lumistar website.
